Recovery & Job Access Transportation Pilot Program

Rural Community Transportation, Inc. (RCT) is pleased to announce the creation of a pilot transportation program for residents of the Northeast Kingdom (Caledonia, Orleans, Essex Counties) and Lamoille County. The pilot program, funded by a Federal research grant awarded to the Vermont Agency of Transportation (VTrans), is designed to provide transportation services to people suffering from a substance use disorder. Transportation provided under this program will cover currently non-eligible trips, complimenting existing transportation programs available throughout the NEK and Lamoille County. The pilot program will fund transportation to essential services such as support groups and meetings, recovery centers, drug testing sites, job training and access, as well as all other programs vital for people in recovery.

The three greatest barriers to successful recovery from substance use disorders are housing, transportation, and employment. This pilot program is designed to help reduce barriers to job access and recovery.

No referrals or authorizations are required to participate in this program, although passengers may be referred to RCT for transportation services by organizations such as recovery centers, human service agencies, or hospitals. In addition, passengers may contact RCT directly at (802) 748-8170 during regular business hours (Monday – Friday, 7:45am – 4:30pm).
